

I can't believe you are wasting my time and yours over a petty issue such as this. XM allows its listeners to hear music talk and entertainment and INFORMATION from all over America and beyond. I don't see the connection between allowing XM to broadcast local information over a new method as any different then having a local station do it. Actually the concept is not new. Could you say "INTERNET".. If you are trying to justify your existence by these petty attempts, you are failing miserably.
